

By the Kansas State Historical Society

Meet the Kansa

The Kansa Indians came to Kansas a long time ago.

A long time ago they lived in houses covered with tree bark.

The Kansa lived in the forest where many trees grew. Leaves, bark, and branches were used to make mats. These mats became the walls and roofs of the houses. Our state is named for the Kansa Indians.

